

ENSA Safety Training

ENSA, a division of Mallory Safety and Supply, conducts industry-leading training, based on applicable OSHA and DOD Regulations, ANSI standards (if referenced by OSHA) and manufacturer's recommendations. Training can be customized – our expert instructors will work with you to create training tailored to your specific regulations, applications and equipment.

A Certificate of Completion, test and sign-in listing (OSHA/ANSI requirements for training) will be provided to your employees upon completion of classes.

ENSA's training facilities and experienced, certified trainers are strategically located around North America — to better service organizations both at the facility and on-site. The ENSA training facility in Mukwonago, WI is the largest and most modern at-height training facility in North America.
